

Washington Whispers®

Reports that it was a "stormy session" between Jimmy Carter and George Bush that led to Bush's abrupt resignation as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency are being discounted. What happened: Bush refused to brief Carter aides on top-secret matters because they had not yet received security clearance. The misunderstanding left no hard feelings.

★ ★ ★